

FEBRUARY 2014

Invest in Financial Relationships

Romance means more than flowers and chocolate.

Make it your goal as a Valentine's day gift to yourself and your loved ones to have a financial discussion about the future. This month, take time to sit down with your partner, spouse, significant other, (or even just yourself) and review all of your finances.

Take a look at what you spend each month, make sure you are both aware of each other's employee-sponsored or other retirement plans and assets, and review your insurance needs. Stay organized by creating a file with your important documents.

It may seem like an overwhelming conversation, but it is worthwhile in the long term!

Check out our post from last year on WISER Ways to Say "I love you" for tips and other ways to have this discussion: <http://www.wiserwomen.org/blog/?p=871>
