

SEPTEMBER 2014

Back to School

Join your kids and take time to educate yourself.

The truth is, you do not need to be an expert in finances to successfully plan and save for retirement; a little knowledge of the basics can go a long way.

Commit this month to educating yourself on these topics. Read at least one book or informational booklet that covers the basics of investing.

Do you know what the difference between a Traditional and a Roth IRA is? What are the basics of CDs? Are mutual funds right for you?

Try to know the answers to these questions by the end of the month. A little understand can boost your confidence and make saving for retirement easier!

Our booklet, "What Everyone Needs to Know About Money and Retirement" is a great place to start:
