An Important Topic to Share with Your Mother

Honoring women in our lives is not always just about chocolates and flowers (though those are nice too!) It's also about helping them to live and age with dignity, which includes protecting their finances. Whether your mother, grandmother, or friend is near retirement or already retired, chances are she will encounter some type of financial scam. Give her a valuable gift. Visit and ask if she knows about the most common scams and let her know that you can help. Read WISER's special Mother's Day guide about asking this important question.
