Featured Publication: Finding a Financial Planner

Looking for financial help? Many people may be wary of financial planners. They have concerns that planners "are usually trying to sell you something," and they "don't like high pressure sales tactics." But this does not describe most financial planners. Working with a qualified planner can really help get your finances and your retirement plans on the right track. The key is to find the right planner for you. Read WISER's fact sheets, How to Find a Financial Planner and the Financial Planner Alert for information on what to look for and questions to ask.
