

National Resource Center on Women and Retirement Planning

What is the Resource Center?

The Administration on Aging (AoA), in partnership with WISER, operates the National Resource Center on Women and Retirement Planning to provide user-friendly financial education and retirement planning tools for low-income women, women of color, and women with limited English-speaking proficiency.

What does the Resource Center do?

The Resource Center reaches women and their families by enlisting the assistance of strategic public-private coalitions as volunteer trainers. WISER's "Aging Network Advisory Council," which is composed of 21 organizations from across the country, promotes nationwide outreach on financial education and retirement planning.

What has the Center accomplished?

Workshops: The Resource Center has conducted over 20,000 workshops providing financial and retirement planning information for women.

Website: The Resource Center/WISER website contains important information for women in categories ranging from money basics, investments, pensions, and Social Security to health, caregiving, and long-term care.

Publications: The Resource Center disseminates thousands of financial education materials every year and tailors them to the specific needs of hard-to-reach women.

A quarterly newsletter, fact sheets, booklets and other materials that present concise, easy-to-understand information on important financial topics are available, many in Spanish as well as Portuguese, Korean, and Vietnamese.
